AI-focused Career Opportunities for Students

Students hired through this drive may be aligned to future-ready work across areas such as AI and data engineering, machine learning, deep learning and GenAI, cloud data platforms, intelligent automation, and AI-enabled software engineering.

Career pathways may include AI and Data tracks, including roles such as ML Engineer and GenAI-focused engineering roles, along with broader digital roles where AI is embedded into delivery.

As the industry landscape undergoes significant shifts in required skills and expertise, TCS offers students a strong opportunity to remain relevant, continuously upskill, and build careers for the new era.
